PASS ARSON CASES

Three Men Are Indicted for Robbing of Bank of Blevins

Moten Hill, Drew Williams and Andrew Smith, negro prisoners held in connection with the murder of Tollgate-keeper Glenn Williams at the Fulton bridge, were indicted for first degree murder by the Hempstead county grand jury in its first and final report at Washington Wednesday.

The grand jury returned a total of 36 indictments, most of which will probably be heard at this term of criminal court, though trial dates had not been announced Wednesday noon.

Action on arson charges against Charles Croshaw, Martin S. Bates and Robert Perry Boyd was passed by the grand jury until a later session.

Three men held in connection with the robbing of the Bank of Blevins were indicted: Will Green, two bills for each of the following charges—after the fact of robbery, after the fact of kidnapping, before the fact of robbery, after the fact of robbery; Bert Waddell, two for kidnapping, one for burglary and grand larceny; Roger Monroe, two for kidnapping, one for burglary.

There were the following other indictments:

Jake Henry, negro, murder.
Roy Francis, fleeing from the scene of an accident, and manslaughter.
Claude Ogden, Fred Colman, Henry Williams and Coy Robinson, burglary and grand larceny.
Commodore Harris, three indictments for burglary and grand larceny.
Freddie Mack, burglary and grand larceny—to which Brown plead guilty.
Molly Elder, selling intoxicating liquor.

In the civil division of circuit court the case of James H. Styles versus McGuire & Cavender was continued to next April.

NRA to Tighten Up on Code Violators

Johnson and Richberg Friendly Again at Reorganization Meet

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In an atmosphere marked by the first handshake in weeks between Donald R. Richberg, unofficial chief of NRA, and Hugh S. Johnson, its retiring administrator, the new governors of the Blue Eagle Tuesday began their task of reshaping its control over industry.

The Industrial Recovery Board, newly named by the president, was in executive session for hours with Richberg, director of the Policy Shipping Control act.

The conference ended without action.

Then the entire group paid respects to Johnson. It was the first meeting—and a smiling one—between Richberg and his old chief since their differences over reorganization methods, generally credited with hastening Johnson's withdrawal.

"We had a friendly little chat over future NRA policies," Johnson said later. "We've had no disagreement and all that talk about it is the hunk."

"Chisel," as Johnson expressed it, has long been recognized a major threat to Blue Eagle codes. The board was reported to be fully aware of this problem and to plan a painstaking survey of existing compliance machinery with an eye to a general tightening up.

Ecuador President Quits Unexpectedly
QUITO, Ecuador—(AP)—President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra, recently inaugurated to succeed Dr. Abelardo Montalvo, resigned Tuesday night. Montalvo was named to the presidency of Ecuador October 17, 1933, after the senate ousted President Juan Martinez Mera on charges of malfeasance.

He took office October 20, and Martinez Mera lent his co-operation in forming the new government.

Co-Ordinator Eastman to Make 4-Fold Report on Railroads

His Recommendations Will Pave Way for Congressional Action on Transportation Crisis

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt said Wednesday that four important reports were nearing completion by Joseph B. Eastman, transportation co-ordinator, to form the basis of railroad legislation this winter.

At his press conference Wednesday the president said it was too early to predict when or what forms of legislation will be sought.

The four reports Eastman expects to submit include:

1. The extent to which transportation agencies are subsidized by the government, either directly or indirectly.
2. Wages and working conditions of agencies other than the railroads.
3. Pooling of railroad freight cars, with a recommendation that all box cars be handled on a pool basis.
4. Railroad passenger traffic.

General Butler Is Cut Off on Radio

Violation of Good Taste Charged in His Remarks to Veterans

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Major General Smedley D. Butler was cut off the air Wednesday during an address before the Veterans of Foreign Wars' national convention after he had used a phrase that the state WAVE of the WEAF-NBC chain objected to.

"Turning food into fertilizer" was the expression that Nate C. Lord, station manager, declared was language contrary to the federal radio laws and that Lord said caused the station to take action.

Detroit Captivated by Dean Brothers

Dizzy and Paul Center of All Eyes in American League City

DETROIT, Mich.—Like the brothers Romulus and Remus who drank a breakfast of wolf milk on the banks of the Tiber and proceeded from that men to go places and do things, the brothers Jerome and Paul Dean, Tuesday morning detrained, slipped orange juice in a hostelry located on the Detroit river and then proceeded to take full charge of this bustling, horn-blowing, sun-infested mecca of the world series.

The two brothers, the most sensational adolescents to bounce into the baseball headlines in this generation, literally captured and held the sole attention of this cock-eyed village.

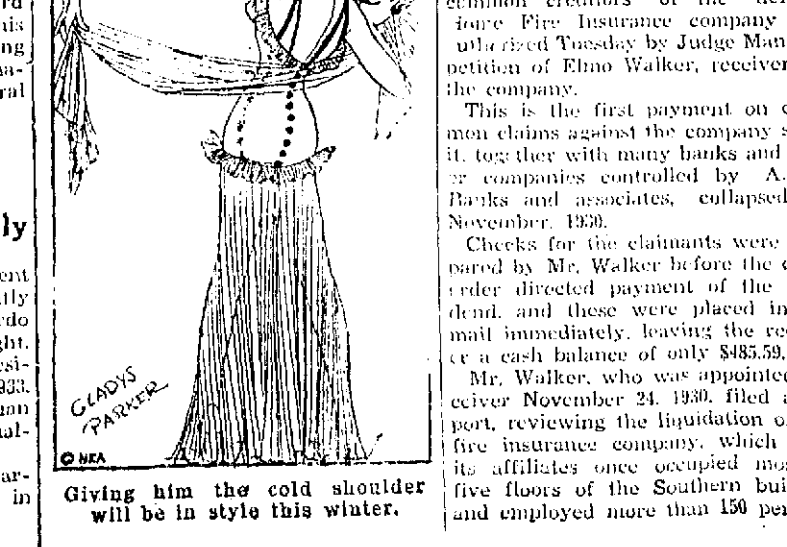

Schoolboy How? Frankie Frisch? Mickey Cochrane? You ceased to think of them. You ceased to hear of them. The Deans were the story. With their went there immediately followed a siren-sounding squad of police cars, a clattering escort of sick-swinging mounted policemen and a surging crowd of fans.

Out to the ball park for practice. Back to the hotel for food. Through the streets, bucking in and out of taxis, popping up and down elevator shafts, the two brothers went arm in arm, mutually advising, congratulating and supporting the other.

Both have clear, cool eyes. Both have rich deep voices. Simultaneously they rare back their heads as some happy thought strikes them and their hearty laughter echoes in the frosty air that blows off Lake St. Clair.

The sky darkens. The street lights bloom. Calliope parades the downtown district playing the "St. Louis Blues." The Deans lean out of their bedroom window to peer and instantly traffic below snails so tightly a third call goes to the neighborhood precinct captain for more reserves.

Guy Payne to Lead Locals in Fordyce Game Here Friday

Will Replace Brown, Who Is Ineligible, in Quarterback Position

WILLIS STONE OUT

Tackle Has 3 Broken Ribs—Three Candidates in Line for Post

With Pete Brown ruled out by the Arkansas Athletic association on the grounds that he had participated in high school football four years, the Bobcats will probably be led by Guy Payne in the quarterback position against Fordyce Redbugs here Friday night.

Coach Foy Hammons indicated as much Wednesday in considering Hope's prospects for clearing another hurdle in its hitherto unbeaten 1934 career.

"The loss of Brown was a great blow," said the coach, "but our boys will be out there fighting twice as hard to make up for it this Friday."

Stone Is Out

Coach Hammons said Willis Stone will be out of the Fordyce game, on account of three fractured ribs; and the tackle position will probably lie between three candidates:

Wilbert Anderson, whom the coach may start at Stone's position; Hobbs, who reported Monday and looks good, but hasn't completely learned the team's signals; and Dick Moore, another likely-looking prospect.

The other tackle, Hamilton, has been suffering from a charley-horse, but will probably start the Fordyce game, according to the coach.

Mr. Hammons estimated Fordyce Wednesday as a formidable opponent. While the Redbugs were beaten 32-0 by Pine Bluff, the game was played in a hard rain, eliminating Fordyce's crack passing attack.

Fordyce is considered most dangerous again this year.

Local fans while disappointed over the ineligibility of Pete Brown consider that the coach is to blame for permitting him to play as a high school substitute quarterback at a time when he was only in the eighth grade of school.

Formerly it was the rule that high school players were eligible for five years' play, to allow for eighth-grade students playing in communities where there were no senior high school facilities, and the supply of football talent was accordingly limited.

But this rule was later changed, restricting play to four years only.

Certificates for Surplus Planned

Speedy Action Promised Farmers Whose Cotton Crop Is Large

LITTLE ROCK—New tax exemption certificates will be issued by the Cotton Section in Washington and forwarded to county assistants in cotton adjustment to cover all applications for surplus tax exemption certificates, and authority to release these certificates to growers will be given by telegram as rapidly as surplus tax exemption certificates in equal amounts are turned in to the national pool.

This is the first payment on common claims against the company since it, together with many banks and other companies controlled by A. B. Barkis and associates, collapsed in November, 1929.

Checks for the claimants were prepared by Mr. Walker before the court order directed payment of the dividend, and these were placed in the mail immediately, leaving the receiver a cash balance of only $485.59.

Mr. Walker, who was appointed receiver November 24, 1930, filed a report reviewing the liquidation of the fire insurance company, which, with its affiliates, once occupied most of five floors of the Southern building and employed more than 150 persons.

Wood Advocated as Fuel for the Municipal Plant

A. C. Erwin and T. R. Bryant Make Proposal to City Council

IS SENT TO BOARD

2 From Board of Public Affairs, 2 Private Citizens, Will Report

A proposal to burn wood as power fuel for the city-owned water and light plant was submitted to the Hope city council at its meeting Tuesday night by A. C. Erwin and T. R. Bryant.

The proposal was debated at length by members of the council on the possibility of whether wood is a cheaper fuel than natural gas, which is being used at the present time.

Mr. Erwin and Mr. Bryant also contended that the proposed measure would serve as a relief measure to farmers who have a surplus supply of wood.

After arguments which consumed nearly two hours, the council passed a motion that two men from the Board of Public Affairs and two other business men be appointed to prepare a detailed statement as to the comparative cost of gas and wood, and submit the report to the next meeting of the council.

The council received a report that the sewer lines had been placed in repair at a cost to the city of $160.

The Marathon Oil & Gas company, of Tulsa, Okla., was given a permit to erect a filling station at Laurel and Third streets.

The council received a report showing there were five city fires during September, four of them being trash fires, the fifth a $175 loss in a gasoline tank explosion on South Hazel street.

The police report showed 58 arrests in September, with 11 cases being appealed to the circuit court.

Monthly accounts for September were ordered paid when properly approved by the chairman of the various committees.

4 Jurors Chosen for Insull Trial

Case of Accused Utility Promoter Gets Under Way

CHICAGO—(AP)—Four of 12 jurors to decide a $143,000,000 mail fraud charge against Samuel Insull Sr., Chicago utilities magnate, and 16 associates, were selected Tuesday.

It was believed the jury will be completed Wednesday.

The four selected are: George Barclay, 65, garage keeper at Yorkville, Ill., and former sheriff of Kendall county.

Walter J. Cassidy, 27, Chicago insurance salesman.

William Austin, 47, a dairy farmer of Richmond, Ill.

Louis Berding, 46, proprietor of a Woodstock (Ill.) grocery.

Special Assistant Attorney General Leslie E. Salter was ready to tender four more when court convenes Wednesday. In this group were E. E. Trivillion, Earlville, an electrician; Edward W. Hawkins, an unemployed telephone engineer, Oak Park; John Keeler, a carpenter of West Chicago; and Roy C. Richardson, Evanston, who deals in commercial diamonds.

Waiting in the box for further examination were Paul Perkins, vice president of a Chicago coal company; H. D. Pierson, a real estate dealer; W. A. Westbrook, a grain dealer of Millington, Ill., and Charles H. Wilson, manager of the Illinois Steel Company plant at Joliet, Ill.

Insull Drowns at Times

Insull, deposed head of a system of power and light plants valued at $1,000,000,000, sat chin in hand, drawing occasionally, while the three government attorneys and the eight defense lawyers staved off the jury.

Both sides conserved premonitory challenges directed at veniremen indicated that the defense wanted a jury without unpleasant memories of stocks and bonds, particularly of the stocks of Insull's huge public utility system.

His Wife Tells Sheriff Service Station Man Slew Own Brother

MARION, Ark.—(AP)—A 37-year-old West Memphian filling station operator and his 28-year-old wife were held in the Crittenden county jail Wednesday awaiting arraignment on charges of slaying J. M. McBride, brother of the man in custody.

The couple were arrested Tuesday night.

Sheriff Sid Campbell, of DeSoto county, Mississippi, quoted Mrs. McBride as saying her husband killed his brother last Tuesday night by pounding him on the head with a hammer.

After the slaying, Campbell quoted Mrs. McBride as saying the body was taken to a spot near Walls, Miss. Robbery was the apparent motive, Sheriff Campbell said.

Deputy Likely to Succeed Norwood

Attorney General to Become State Housing Director

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Donald R. Richberg, National Emergency Council director, clarified Tuesday the Arkansas set-up of the council by directing J. J. Harrison, present state director to continue in charge of NRA compliance.

Monday the council announced that Hal L. Norwood, state attorney general, had been named state director for the NEC.

In a telegram Tuesday to Harrison, Richberg instructed him to continue, acting primarily as compliance director. It was said that Norwood would be director of the housing program in the state.

Deputy May Succeed

LITTLE ROCK—Although he received telegraphic notice Tuesday of his appointment as director of the Federal Housing Administration in Arkansas, Attorney General Hal L. Norwood said he had no comment, pending a letter of confirmation, which he expects Wednesday.

Mr. Norwood said the letter probably will explain when he is expected to assume the new duties, and just what those duties will be. His former duties will be. His former duties will be. His former duties will be. (Continued on Page Three)

Cards Favored to Win the Series

New York Experts Betting on St. Louis by 3-to-5 Odds

NEW YORK—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, despite the general opinion that the Dean brothers have been overworked, remained the favorites to win the first game and the world's championship from the Detroit Tigers in the metropolitan betting marts Tuesday.

Jack Doyle, Broadway commissioner, reported only a scattered financial interest in the series but what there was made the Cardinals the 7-to-10 choice to take the first game and the 3-to-5 favorites to win the series. The Tigers were held at 11-to-10 for the opening contest and 6-to-5 for the series.

Another commissioner reported handling $32,000 on the series and $16,000 on the first game at 10-to-13 and 5-to-6, respectively.

That's one of the descriptive phrases used to herald the coming of Cecil B. DeMille's newest Paramount production, "Cleopatra," which will have its first Arkansas showing Friday night at the Saenger's 11 p. m. preview.

The film, a modern screen treatment of one of the world's greatest love stories, has Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon in the principal parts. Wilcoxon is the young Englishman DeMille brought to Hollywood for the role of Marc Antony, the noble Roman who gave up his life for love of the Egyptian queen while Empires tottered about him.

Produced by Mr. DeMille and directed by him, the picture has a notable supporting cast including Ian Keith, Joseph Schildkraut, C. Aubrey Smith, Gertrude Michael, Irving Pichel, Robert Warwick, William Farnum, Edwin Maxwell and Harry Berensford.

Rome and Egypt live again in all their monumental splendor, serving here as a background for the deathless love story that destroyed mighty empires and wrote the most exciting pages of history.

Dixie Series Won by New Orleans

Galehouse Pitches Southern Association Club to Final Victory

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(AP)—Young Denny Galehouse pitched and batted New Orleans to its second successive Dixie baseball championship here Tuesday, when the Pelicans defeated the Galveston Buccaneers 5 to 4 in the sixth game of the series, winning four games to two.

Denny, limiting the Bucs to nine scattered blows, twice saw a comfortable lead eaten away by fielding errors of his mates and suddenly decided to take things in his own hands in the eighth inning. Galehouse hit a double, his second hit of the game, to deep centerfield and scored on Second baseman "Boze" Berger's hot single to left.

World Series Notes

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—The hotel lobby was packed with baseball celebrities here for the world series. Bell boys rushed about, autograph seekers pushed and tugged to get Dizzy Dean's signature and, on some overstuffed chairs, as many as a dozen tried to get some rest.

"And out of all the confusion," bopped a familiar voice, "Dizzy Vance gets into a world series." Everyone looked up. Sure enough, it was the old Dazzler.

"It took me 13 years to get in and now I'm just a relief pitcher," sighed the old Dazzler, "but I sneaked in just the same. Number 13 always has been lucky for me anyway. I pitched my only no-hit game against the Phillies on September 13, 1925. In my thirteenth year, I escaped from Cincinnati into the world series dough!"

Confusion was a mild word for it all tonight as Detroit stomped up for the big show. Although the seating capacity of Navin Field is 47,000 with the extra seats and camp chairs, it was estimated that 150,000 fans were looking for tickets. Police kept watch for scalpers, who were reported demanding as much as $25 a ticket for the opener.

They told this one on a Detroit police squad today. The chief last night ordered a detail to the Wabash station to guard "those Cardinals." But when the St. Louis players arrived, not a cop noticed them. They expected real cardinals, red hats and all.

Stories were as numerous as fans today as the players, writers and managers of other major and minor league clubs swapped experiences. But the one that drew the biggest laugh was told by Dizzy Vance.

"An umpire had made a close decision," related Dizzy, "and the batter, called out on the play, stormed at him. Unmoved, the ump stood there grandly with his arms stretched in the air.

"Hey!" yelled the batter. "Put your hands down. You're the burglar, not me!"

Spain's Radical Government Falls

Conservatives Forecast End Soon of "Minority Rule"

MADRID, Spain—(A)—Premier Ricardo Samper's Centrist government collapsed Monday coincidentally with the reopening of Parliament.

A wild scene in the Chamber of Deputies as one minister after another announced he was resigning was followed by the premier's hurried visit to President Alcala Zamora to present the cabinet's resignation.

After conferring with the executive, he announced that Alcala Zamora would begin conferences with 30 leaders Tuesday preparatory to forming another government.

Miguel Maura, leader of the Centrist Conservative Republicans, said he believed the Samper government's downfall spelled the end of minority government in Spain.

Mystic Symbols on Kidnap Notes

Death Rays Given Off by Hot Stars

Literally Too Hot to Give Sensation of Light as We Know It

WASHINGTON—(A)—The discovery of huge "stars of death," the rays of which would wipe out all earthly life if they could reach it, was announced Tuesday by the Smithsonian Institute.

A vast shower of "death rays" sent out by these stars was found to consist mostly of ultra-violet rays of very short wave-length. Similar radiation is given off by the sun, but fortunately the death rays cannot reach the earth because they are screened out by a layer of ozone high in the earth's atmosphere.

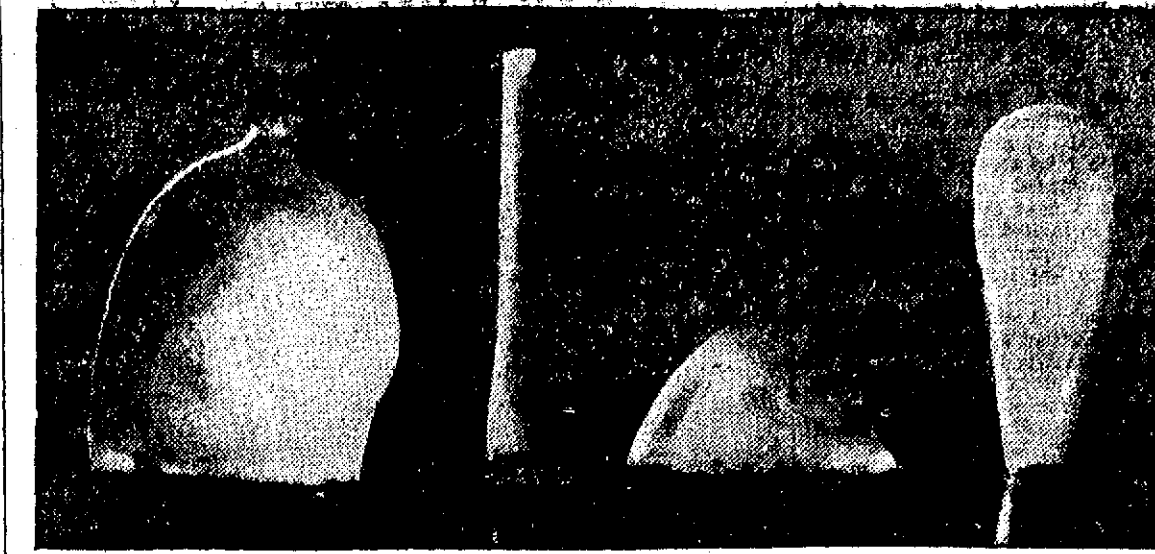

Virtually all of the blue-colored stars in the heavens were found to be of the "death" type. Three times as hot as the sun at the surface—36,000 degrees Fahrenheit—they were found to give off few of the sun's beneficial type of ultra-violet or heat rays such as make life possible on earth.

The discovery came as a result of research during the last summer at Mount Wilson observatory, Cal., by Dr. Charles G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, and his assistant, L. B. Aldrich.

With a new set-up of astronomical instruments they made the most delicate measurements ever achieved of the energy of various wave-lengths or colors of radiation coming from various kinds of stars.

They succeeded in measuring almost infinitesimal amounts of star radiation that reach the earth after traveling for years across trillions and quadrillions of miles of empty space. The work is expected greatly to aid

Broken Spoon Taken From Hauptmann; Fear Suicide

Close guard was maintained over Bruno Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap suspect, after he had broken a spoon in four pieces, as shown here, sharpened the bowl, and severed the pieces in a drain in his cell in Bronx county, N. Y., jail. Further sharpening of the spoon might have made it an effective suicide weapon, Sheriff J. Hanley declared.

Knowledge of the stars. A typical one of the blue "stars of death" is Rigel, a star in the left foot of the constellation of Orion.

"There might be some fantastic speculation regarding the experience of a sensory organism (such as a man) dwelling in the neighborhood of such a star, which is literally too hot to be bright," the Smithsonian said.

"The major part of its ray would kill organisms instead of supporting life. The greater part of its radiation would not produce the sensation of light in an organism upon which it fell. Just what sensation it would produce is hard to say."

exhibited willingness to take almost any venetian who could hear well. "Did you ever deal on the stock market?" and "do you own any stock in the Insull group?" were always asked by the defense lawyers.

Both sides proceeded with the utmost caution, since both were rigidly limited as to peremptory challenges. The defense can reject only 10 prospective jurors, the government only six.

Defendants in Reunion There was a brief reunion among the defendants before they sat down in a row of chairs which stretched across the entire side of the courtroom. Insull sat at the head of this section, a heavily built man with thin white hair, long white mustache and ruddy complexion.

Beyond him, cupping their ears to hear the questioning 50 feet across the big marble and gilt courtroom was a line of prosperous looking business associates, all somberly dressed and serious of mien.

Alert to eliminate any of the prospective jurors who had lost money in Insull stocks, Defense Lawyer Thompson, challenged four of the first 12 candidates for prejudice.

Many replacements have been made in the Schell Circus during the past year. New equipment, including trucks, wagons, tents, paraphernalia and costumes have been purchased. The program has been augmented by several new features, notable among which is the newly imported display of trained animals.

FOUR shots in a city street... a man fallen... another fleeing. "Just one more gang killing," said those who read the news... and forgot. But Sidney Griff, the criminologist, remembered. Griff was sure there was a connection between this shooting and the strange events preceding the murder of Charles Morden, reporter. Who was the Bogus Pick-pocket? And what had become of the Pretty Hitch-hiker who accompanied him? When Frank B. Cathay, millionaire, died—of poisoning—and his youthful widow was implicated, Griff knew he was on the right trail. Griff plays his hunch, plays recklessly and with surprising results, in the new serial, "The Clew of the Forgotten Murder" by Carleton Kendrake. Here is a mystery crammed with thrills, exciting from start to finish, a story you won't forget.

Norwood Offered Emergency Post

Attorney General Says He Will Resign If He Accepts U. S. Post

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Hal L. Norwood, Arkansas attorney general, was named Monday as state director for the National Emergency Council.

The appointment was announced by Donald R. Richberg, executive director of the National Emergency Council, who, with the concurrence of James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, requested Norwood to assume direction of the better housing program in Arkansas.

Not Yet Received

LITTLE ROCK.—Mr. Norwood said Monday night that he had not received notification of his appointment as state director of the National Emergency Council. He said he would wait for official notification before he definitely accepts. He added that "if I accept I will resign as attorney general."

"I did not ask for the position," Mr. Norwood said. "I guess I must have been selected by Mr. Richberg, whom I have known for many years. First met him in Little Rock."

Mr. Norwood and Mr. Richberg were associated in defense of the Arkansas full crew law several years ago. Mr. Richberg represented railway employees' organization and Mr. Norwood the state.

Mr. Norwood was defeated for re-nomination by Prosecuting Attorney Carl E. Bailey, who will take office January 1. In event of Mr. Norwood's resignation, before that date, his successor will be appointed by Governor Futrell.

Corn-Hog Program Vital for Farmer

Without It Prices Would Fall, Loans Cease, Warning by AAA

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Corn and hog producers were warned Monday by Administrator Chester Davis of the AAA that overproduction and lower prices almost surely may be expected if they fail to vote to continue the corn-hog control program in 1933.

Without a control program, he said, it will be impossible for the government to continue lending on corn stored on the farms.

"The question is put squarely up to the corn and hog farmers," Davis said. "The price of hogs on the market place is twice as high as it was a year ago, because the price of corn is so low. The hog program was felt. On top of that the packers are paying $2.25 a hundred processing tax. This higher price of hogs didn't just happen by itself."

"The hog farmers are on the threshold of a year of comparatively satisfactory prices. I do not believe there is any manner by which they can maintain themselves in that position if they abandon their effort to control the volume of output."

Davis scored "a lot of wild tales going the rounds about the 1934 corn-hog program." He said some appear to have been "deliberately circulated with the idea of prejudicing the city consumer against the farm program."

2 Accused of Bribe in Scottsboro Case

Charged With Bringing
Pressure on Mrs. Victoria Price

HUNTSVILLE, Ala.—(AP)—Alabama authorities Monday night took steps to bring into their custody two men held at Nashville, Tenn., on charges of attempting to bribe Mrs. Victoria Price, the state's principal witness in the "Scottsboro case," to change her testimony.

Armed with information gained from J. W. Pearson, of Birmingham, who was arrested on a similar charge Saturday, Sheriff Ben Giles left for Montgomery to obtain a requisition for the two men held in Nashville.

The men in Nashville, identified by Tennessee police as Daniel Swift, who described himself as a New York attorney, and Sol Kone, also of New York, were taken into custody there.

Pearson was arrested as he drove Mrs. Price on a highway toward Nashville, on a warrant sworn to by the woman. Pearson then swore to a similar warrant against Swift, and today Jack Tiller, bodyguard for Mrs. Price, made an affidavit against Kone.

Sheriff Giles said Pearson had directed him to his home in Birmingham to obtain letters he alleged were written him by Swift and others concerning Mrs. Price.

Pearson, according to Sheriff Giles said he had met Swift in Chattanooga, Tenn., in June to discuss the matter and agreed to attempt to see Mrs. Price. The man said his only interest in the case was to help Mrs. Price obtain some money.

Mrs. Price, who has had a bodyguard since February, 1933, when Ruby Bates, second alleged victim of attacks aboard a freight train March 25, 1933, disappeared, tipped police of the effort to get her to change her testimony.

Rate Increase Is Plea of Railroads

67 Per Cent of Rail Mileage Operating at Loss
Today

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Organized and determined moves to get more money for air mail and freight carriers brought tales of woe and purely legal arguments Monday before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

There were two separate hearings. In the one on the railroads' application for $179,000,000 in freight rate increases commissioners were told that higher operating costs necessitated the raise. In the air mail hearing, another group of commissioners heard Postoffice Department representatives argue that the ICC had no authority to change present contract rates.

R. V. Fletcher, general attorney of the Association of Railway Executives, which is handling the railroad case, started things with the assertion that carriers "simply seek to be classified with industry generally and be permitted to advance the price of what they have to sell when costs which they cannot control make such a course imperative."

Wage increases and added costs for materials and supplies had fair to increase railroad operating costs nearly $300,000,000 a year, he said, although many carriers were unable to earn their interest and rental charges.

He was backed up in this statement by Dr. Julius H. Parnale, director of the Bureau of Railway Economics, who said 67.4 per cent of the 250,000 miles of railroad in the country operated at a loss from January 1 August 1 this year with an aggregate deficit of $99,000,000.

Can't You Just Hear the Wedding Bells?

Wouldn't you like to know the absolute truth about the romantic rumors that have been flying out of Hollywood so thick and fast you might almost believe some of them? There's Charlie Chaplin and Paulette Goddard, for instance, shown, upper left, as they attended a recent tennis match. The couple has been seen together so often they've been practically taken for granted. Then there's the persistent friendship of Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford, upper right. They were photographed together at the Reinhardt production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." And at the same performance, the photographer saw Herbert Marshall and Gloria Swanson, below, with Gloria almost resisting the interference of autograph seekers.

It's no wonder so many
